Two unique houses located in this exceptionally pretty Georgian terrace, in a very vibrant part of east London.

The current owner bought the Grade 11 Listed houses forty years ago, and combined them into a single dwelling, creating an exceptionally well-lit and spacious double fronted house. Because it is a combination of two smaller houses, this now offers a unique internal layout, which is full of charm and is very practical with plenty of storage.

Half the ground floor has been opened up into a single space, containing a large double height kitchen dining room with a door leading onto a charming sunny garden. The other half has the staircase and two further interconnecting rooms which have been used as a home office, a dining room, and even a ground floor bedroom. The lower-ground floor offers a bathroom, large guest bedroom/dressing room, as well as a wine cellar, utility
